- Describe how your institution's training programs will serve employed individuals or individuals with barriers to employment.

Comments:

Having a CDL license opens up a demand for truck drivers from all walks of life. For heavy equipment, we provide an NCCER credential where companies can see what the student is proficient at. NTI has been in business for over 46 years beginning in 1978. We have offered on site training and hands on training which makes the training more achievable because they get a better understanding when they can actually see what they need to learn. The 4 week training gives any student the opportunity to participate and ask questions. If someone is struggling in an area, we will bring them back for more one on one training at no charge. NTI will give the student information as to how to study and take the permit test for CDL, what a dot physical consists. The reps are available to answer questions and guide the student all the way through the entire process.

- Does your institution provide reasonable accommodations for access to individuals with disabilities, limited English proficiency, and other barriers?

Comments:

CDL students must speak English to take the state exam. Heavy Equipment Operators who have limited English proficiency are given a copy of the textbook to have time to go through it prior to class start. Each student is assigned an admissions rep and they are counseled if they need some extra help in areas. All of the instructors at NTI are here with the students success in mind and that is why we evaluate the student everyday to make sure they are able to retain what they are being taught. If extra time or information is needed, either with reading material, videos or hands on, that will be provided. The students are provided a 4:1 instructor ration which allows the student to get more attention if needed. Our instructions will always track how the students are doing on an individual basis so no one gets left behind.
